7.2 Distinction

INTRODUCTION:

Joint stock company is very popular form of business organization. It's members are large in number. Members are treated as owners of the company but they are scattered over wide areas and have their own business hence they cannot practically manage the daily company affairs Under such circumstances it becomes necessary to make separation of ownership from management.

Meeting is the best form of oral or face to face communication of members and management in the company. Members and directors come together, discuss company related matters, exchange ideas, opinions, determine the business plan and policies and take collective decisions at a meeting.

In short company meetings are necessary for the purpose of discussing various issues relating to the company and arrive at decisions.

Meaning and Definition:

The term meeting is derived from the Latin word 'Maeta'. Maeta means 'face to face'.

Meaning:

A meeting may be defined as gathering or assembling of two or more persons for transacting any lawful business.

Definition:

According to Show & Smith "Company Meeting is an assembly of people connected with the company who have gathered for the purpose of discussing matters related to it."

In short company meeting is an official gathering of Shareholders, Directors, KMPs and / or Creditors for discussing different issues relating to the company and arrive at decisions.

Importance of company meetings:

1) Opportunities for members to come together:

A meeting provides an opportunity for members to come together and discuss about the working of the company.

2) Minutes of the previous meeting:

Minutes of the previous Board and Committee meeting are read out by the Secretary which enables the members to get a clear idea about the matters discussed in the previous meeting.

3) Fixation and implementation of policies, plans and programmes:

The management chalks out the policies, plans, programmes and decides ways and means of its implementation in the meeting.

4) Analysis of problems:

The nature of problems can be discussed and analyzed in the meeting and it becomes easy to arrive at a solution.

5) Legal requirements:

Meetings are to be held according to the provisions of the Companies Act. Legal formalities related with convening and conducting various meetings of the company are fulfilled by conducting meetings.

6) Other elements:

Meetings are essential to make the appointment of directors, and auditors, declare the dividend, study and give approval to annual report, financial statements, auditors report etc.

7.1 ESSENTIALS OF VALID MEETINGS:

Meetings play a very vital role in management of a joint stock company, as most of its decisions are made at the company meetings. The business transacted at these meetings must be valid. A meeting becomes valid when it is duly convened, properly constituted and properly conducted in accordance with the provisions of the Companies Act and the Articles of Association of the company.

7.1.1. PROPER CONVENING OF MEETING:

1. Proper authority:

A meeting must be convened by a proper authority. The proper authority to convene a general meeting of shareholders is the Board of directors. Under certain circumstances meetings can also be called by the members or the National Company Law Tribunal or the Central Government. The secretary should call a meeting by issuing a notice with the authority of board of directors.

2. Notice - (Company Act 2013-section 101):

The second requirement of a valid meeting is that a proper notice must be given to proper person.

a) Meaning:

The notice of a meeting is an advance written intimation containing day, date, time and place given by company to all those who are entitled to receive it.

b) Contents of notice:

Every notice of company meeting must specify

- i) Type of the meeting
- ii) The exact day, date, time and place of meeting
- iii) The agenda of meeting and contains a statement that member is entitled to appoint proxy.
- iv) If any special resolution is to be passed it must be mentioned as special resolution in notice.
- v) In case of special business to be transacted statutory note and an explanatory statement must be given in the notice.

c) Authority to send notice:

The Board of directors is the authority to send the notice of the meeting. Normally the board of directors authorizes the secretary to send the notice convening the meeting.

d) Authority to receive notice (section 172(2)):

- i) All the share holders, in case of shareholders meeting.
- ii) The Auditor of the company in case of Annual General meeting.
- iii) The legal representatives of deceased or insolvent member
- iv) A person named first in register of members in case of joint holders.
- v) All directors in case of Board meeting / General meetings.

e) Period of Notice:

In case of general meeting, notice must be sent 21 clear days before the actual meeting i.e. the day of sending notice and day of meeting is to be excluded while counting 21 days. But for a Board Meeting 7 days notice is required.

f) Ways of serving notice (Section 172(2)):

- i) Notice must be sent either personally or by ordinary post at the registered address of the member in India only.
- ii) If the member has no registered address in India, then it is sent to the address which is given by the member.
- iii) If any member wants the notice by registered post, the notice must be sent accordingly, provided he pays charges in advance.
- iv) Notice can also be advertised in a leading newspaper of the area, where the registered office of the company is situated.
- v) As per initiative of Ministry of Environment, company can also send notice of meeting through e-mail.

g) A statement to be sent alongwith notice - (Section 102):

Where special business is to be transacted in the general meeting, an explanatory statement to that effect is required to be annexed to the notice.

h) Omission to give notice (Section 101 (4):

If notice is not sent to one or more members deliberately, the meeting would become invalid.

3) Agenda :

● Meaning:

Agenda means a statement containing a list of items to be discussed at the meeting.

A secretary has to prepare the agenda in consultation with the chairman. Agenda is sent along with the notice of the meeting.

● Importance of Agenda

- i) Chairman can conduct the meeting efficiently with the help of agenda.
- ii) Chairman can discuss the items as per the sequence of agenda.
- iii) Members can get sufficient time to think over the items given in the agenda. So that they come well prepared for the meeting and actively participate in it.
- iv) All items included in agenda are discussed in the meeting.

● Guidelines for preparation of Agenda:

While preparing the agenda the secretary should keep in mind the following guiding principles.

- i) Agenda must be prepared in simple language and it should be brief and clear.
- ii) Routine or general nature of items should be put first in order then special matters and contentious matter should be the last.
- iii) Similar type of matters should be placed in a sequence on the agenda.
- iv) All items included in the agenda must be within the scope of the meeting.

● Types of agenda:

There are two types of agenda - 1. Bare statement agenda in which all items are described in brief and 2. Draft minutes agenda in which items are given in detail so that it is useful in preparing the minutes of the meeting.

7.1.2 Proper constitution of meeting:

1) Quorum - (Section 103):

Quorum is the most essential condition for a valid meeting. Quorum means the minimum number of members required to be present at a meeting. Presence of the members is essential for transacting legally the business at the meeting. The quorum has to remain present from beginning till the end of meeting. Secretary must ensure the quorum before the commencement of meeting. A meeting in absence of quorum is invalid.

Provisions for Quorum (Companies Act, 2013)

Quorum for General meeting

a) In case of public company:

Quorum depends upon the number of share holders.

Number of shareholders	Quorum
Not more than 1000	Five (5) members
More than 1000 but up to 5000	Fifteen (15)members
Exceeds 5000	Thirty (30) Members

b) In case of private company:

Two members personally present shall be the quorum for meeting of the company.

Quorum for Board Meeting:

According to the provision in the Companies Act, a quorum for Board Meeting is 1/3 of the total number of directors or two directors whichever is higher.

2) Chairman of the meeting (Section 104)

There must be a proper person i.e. chairman to conduct a meeting properly. Chairman has to preside over and conduct the proceedings of a meeting.

☐ Provisions for the appointment of Chairman: (Section 104)

If the articles of association of a company do not provide any provisions for the appointment of a Chairman, then the appointment of Chairman shall be made as per the provisions of Companies Act as follows:

- i) Unless the articles of a company otherwise provides, the members personally present at the meeting shall elect one of them to be the Chairman thereof on a show of hands.
- ii) If a poll is demanded for the election of the Chairman, it shall be taken forthwith. The Chairman elected by a show of hands shall exercise all the powers till the Chairman is elected by poll.
- iii) If some other person is elected as the Chairman as a result of the poll, that person shall be the chairman for the rest of meeting.

☐ Powers of Chairman:

- i) To keep order and conduct the meeting properly.
- ii) To decide the priority of speakers.
- iii) To maintain relevancy and order in debate.
- iv) To prevent the use of improper language and behaviour of the member.

- vi) To see that proper and correct minutes are entered in the minutes book and to sign them.
- vii) To act in the best interest of the meeting.
- viii) To deal with all incidental questions which arise at a meeting.

7.1.3.PROPER CONDUCT OF MEETING:

1) Proxy (Section 105):

Meaning:

A proxy is a person who attends a general meeting and votes on behalf of a member of the company.

Every member of a company has a statutory right to appoint a proxy.

□ Legal provisions regarding proxy:

i) Appointment:

Any member of a company entitled to attend and vote at a meeting of the company shall be entitled to appoint another person as a proxy to attend and vote at the meeting on his behalf. It is also provided that the Central Government may prescribe certain companies whose members shall not be entitled to appoint another person as a proxy. A minor cannot be appointed as proxy. Proxy cannot be appointed for a Board meeting. The appointment of proxy is valid for an adjourned meeting.

ii) Right:

A proxy shall not have the right to speak at the meeting and to vote except on a poll.

iii) Membership :

A person appointed as a proxy may or may not be a member of the company.

iv) A letter of authority/proxy form:

The duly completed proxy form must be submitted by the member in company's registered office at least 48 hours before the meeting and a separate proxy form is required for each meeting.

v) Inspection:

A member can inspect any proxy form by giving not less than three days notice to the company.

2) Motion: (Section 105)

A motion is a proposal put before a meeting for its consideration and adoption. A motion is liable to alteration before it is adopted by the meeting.

A person who puts forth motion in the meeting is called a proposer or a mover.

□ Essentials of a valid motion:

- i) A motion must be in writing and signed by the proposer, and put to the meeting by the Chairman.
- ii) A motion should not contain any argument, inference or defamatory expression.
- iii) Wording of motion should be affirmative - clear, and definite.
- iv) Motion should be within the scope of agenda.
- v) Motion should be seconded by at least one member.

- vi) Every member is allowed to speak on the motion only once.
- vii) Motion can be withdrawn by proposer by following a procedure.

□ Kind of motions

1) Formal motion 2) Substantive motion

1) Formal motion:

Formal motions are related to the procedures at the meeting and are moved for the purpose of preventing or delaying or speeding up discussion on a motion. Following are types of formal motion -

i) The Closure:

When a member is convinced that sufficient time has been spent on the discussion of a particular motion, he may propose that the question be now put to vote. This is called as closure. The object of moving a closure motion is not to solve the main question, but to avoid waste of time and to arrive at a quick decision. If this motion is put to vote and if majority favours the same, no further discussion is permitted.

ii) Previous Question motion:

The main purpose of this motion is to prevent discussion on the main motion. When some members come to the conclusion that it is unwise or inconvenient discussion on the main motion, they may move the previous question. The wording of this motion is 'The question be not now put.' If it is carried, the discussion on the main motion is dropped. If the previous question is lost, the original motion is put to vote.

iii) Next Business motion:

This motion is similar to the previous question motion. The object of moving such a motion is to shelve discussion on the main motion before the meeting. The wordings of motion is 'The meeting to proceed to next business'.

Such motion is generally moved when a member is of the opinion that the main motion under discussion is of little importance and other important items of business are not yet transacted. In such a case the motion is put to vote and if it is carried, the original motion is dropped at once and the meeting proceeds to next business.

iv) Adjournment of Debate motion:

By this motion discussion on the motion can be postponed. The wording of this motion is 'The debate on the subject be adjourned.' The mover of the motion feels that additional information is required for further discussion and the discussion should be delayed for particular period. If it is carried, the debate will be postponed if it is lost the debate continues.

v) Adjournment of meeting motion:

The aim of this is to postpone the meeting for a particular period or indefinite period. The wording of this motion is "The meeting be now adjourned." If it is carried, the meeting is postponed to future date. If it is lost, meeting continues.

2) Substantive motion:

A motion which is changed due to amendment is called substantive motion. When an amendment is passed, it is incorporated in the original motion. The substantive motion is put to vote, if it is passed it becomes a resolution.

❑ Amendment:

An amendment is any alteration proposed by a member to the original motion when a motion is under discussion.

Amendments are generally moved to alter original motion by-

- a) Adding some new words.
- b) Deleting some words.
- c) Replacing some words.
- d) By changing the position or place of words.

The amendment should be relevant to the main motion and it must not alter the original motion entirely.

❑ Point of Order :

A point of order is a question or objection raised by any member when he wants to bring to the notice of the chairperson the irregularities in the meeting.

The point of order may be for-

- 1) Absence of quorum
- 2) Breach of any rule relevant to meeting
- 3) Misbehaviour of any member.
- 4) Use of improper language by any member

When the point of order is raised, discussion on the original motion is stopped for some time. The decision on the point of order is taken by the chairperson. It shall be final and binding on the meeting.

3) Voting:

To vote means to express opinion in a formal way. After discussion on motion in a meeting, it is put to vote for knowing the opinion of members. Voting is necessary to ensure the sense or trend of the meeting. Each share holder has the right to vote on each motion in lawful manner.

❑ Methods of voting:

1. Voting by voice

Under this method the members are requested to say 'yes' if they are in favour of the motion or say 'No' if they are against the motion. Decision is taken on the basis of volume of voice.

This method is exercised rarely. The volume of voice does not give the clear idea about the majority of votes.

2. Voting by Division

Under this method present members are divided into two groups. Members in favour and those against the matter are asked to go in different rooms. Then the trend of the meeting is ensured by counting and chairman declares the result.

3. Voting by show of hands - (section 107)

This method is used in the general meetings of a company. After the discussion on the motion the chairman requests the members to raise their hands in favour or against the motion. The chairman declares the result by counting number of hands in favour or against the proposal.

4. Voting by Ballot

Under this method to record the vote, ballot papers are distributed to every member and they deposit it in the ballot box. The votes are counted and the result is declared. This method maintains secrecy in voting.

5. Voting electronically (section 108)

The Central Government may prescribe certain companies for having compulsory electronic voting in general meeting. Member may exercise his right to vote by the electronic means.

6. Voting by postal ballot (section-110)

The Central Government may prescribe certain companies for having voting by postal ballot. Ballot papers are sent by post to members.

7. Voting by Poll

Poll can be demanded after the declaration of result by the show of hands. Under this method each member can vote in proportion to the number of shares held by him. Polling papers are given to members and proxies for recording their votes. The result of poll is final and not to be challenged.

Legal provisions regarding voting by poll-

- i) The chairman can demand poll
- ii) In case of a private company.
 - a) Poll can be demanded by one member when not more than seven members are present and
 - b) by two members when more than seven members are present
- iii) In case of public company poll can be demand by at least five members present in person or by proxy.
- iv) It can also be demanded by any member/members present in person or by proxy holding 1/10 of the total voting power.
- v) The poll must be conducted within 48 hours of its demand.
- vi) The decision taken by poll is final and cannot be changed.
- vii) The demand for poll can be withdrawn any time by the person who demanded it.

Merits :

- 1) Proxies are allowed to vote.
- 2) Secrecy can be maintained under this method.
- 3) It is scientific method of voting.
- 4) Shareholders can vote in the proportion of shares held.

Demerits

- i) Under this method 'one share one vote' principle is exercised hence this method is criticized as capitalistic method of voting.
- ii) This method is expensive, time consuming and complicated.

4) Resolution

A motion accepted in a meeting is called resolution. A Resolution is formal and final decision of meeting. No discussion is allowed on the resolution. Every resolution should be recorded in minutes book. Every resolution should be brief and framed in the affirmative form. Number of members voting in favour and against the resolution should be mentioned. Resolution should be drafted in present tense. Resolution cannot be altered.

Types of Resolution

A) Ordinary Resolution (Section 114)

A resolution which is passed by simple majority is called ordinary resolution. More than 50% of the votes should be in favour of motion. An ordinary resolution need not be submitted the registrar of companies. The notice of the meeting need not require to explain the particulars of an ordinary resolution. For e.g. Approval of statutory report, Alteration of the share capital, Declaration of Dividend, Approval of directors, auditor report and final accounts, Election of directors, appointment of secretary and auditor and fix their consideration etc.

B) Special Resolution (Section 114(2))

The resolution which is passed by special majority is called as special resolution. It is passed by 3/4 or 75% majority. The number of votes in favour of motion should be three times of the votes cast against the motion. Purpose of passing a special resolution should be mentioned in the notice of the meeting. A special resolution is passed in general meeting only. Notice of Special Resolution has to be given to the members 21 days before the meeting. A copy of special resolution must be filed with the Registrar of Companies through e - filing on MCA portal within 30 days of passing resolution.

Examples of special Resolution-

- i) Change in the name of the company (Section 13)
- ii) Shifting of registered office of the company from one state to another (Section 12)
- iii) Alteration in the object clause of company
- iv) Reduction in the authorized share capital of the company
- v) Alteration in the Articles of Association of company (Section 14)

C) Resolution requiring special notice (Section 115)

Some resolutions require special notice as per the Companies Act or Articles of Association of the company, hence such resolutions are called resolution requiring special notice.

Special notice resolution may be ordinary or special resolution.

A proposer of the motion has to give a special notice of 14 days to the company. The company should then give a notice of that resolution to all members at least 7 days before the meeting.

Under the Companies Act 2013 for the following resolutions require special notice -

- i) Resolution to appoint a person as a auditor other than a retiring auditors
- ii) Resolution providing that a retiring auditor shall not be reappointed
- iii) Resolution to appoint director other than retiring director
- iv) Resolution to remove a director before the expiry of his term
- v) Appointment of a person as a director in place of the director removed

D) Resolution requiring Registration (Section 117)

Resolutions which are required to be registered with the Registrar of Companies are called as resolution requiring registration. Resolution should be filed with Registrar within 30 days of it's passing. Examples of such resolutions as following.

- i) All Special Resolutions,
- ii) Resolution made by Board of Directors regarding appointments or reappointment of managing director,
- iii) Resolution made by members regarding dissolution of company.

E) Resolution by Circulation

When directors have to take important and urgent decisions and do not have sufficient time to call a meeting; at that time a draft resolution is prepared and forwarded to all directors to pass resolution. It is called as resolution by circulation.

□ Validity of Resolution

Resolutions passed at the meeting by following proper rules and regulations are termed as valid resolutions. If resolutions are passed without following proper rules and regulations they are termed as invalid resolutions.

Points regarding Invalid Resolutions

- i) Resolution is not within the scope of notice and meeting.
- ii) Resolution passed at the meeting but not properly convened and constituted.
- iii) If the fact of special business is not mentioned in the notice of the meeting.
- iv) If resolution requires a specific majority of votes but it is passed only by ordinary majority of votes discussed at the meeting.
- v) Resolution is out of the scope of Memorandum of Association.
- vi) Voting on the motion is irregular.

5) Minutes (Section 118)

Meaning

The term minutes means written records of proceedings of a meeting.

Definition

According to M. C. Kuchhal - The term minutes means a concise and accurate official record of the decisions taken at the meeting.

Minutes are prepared by the secretary within 15 days after the meeting. Minutes are recorded in minutes book and written in the past tense. After preparing minutes, it should be passed in consecutive meeting. Minutes Books for General Meetings and Board Meetings are maintained separately.
